Hi Microsoft is the best company in the world. The justice department has ruined a great economy by trying to bread up and control Microsoft & the rest of the computer science world. Just leave private enterprise alone. The government spent millions of dollars that could have been given back to the tax payers, because it is our money, but or no Clinton was in the pocket of the California computer science group. Just think of all the money spent by the government and Microsoft combine, the tax payers could have been buying all kinds of new computers and software, that would have been very good for the economy. Get off Microsoft's back and let it innovate for the good of us all. Good by.
